Join JO SERCOMBE for a fun morning at this Gospel Singing Workshop

Jo trained in Music at Southampton University and it was there that she discovered her love for singing gospel and jazz. She now works in Bath and nationally as a singer and Musical Director, specializing in community music projects, vocal practice and gospel music. Jo believes that singing can be energizing for people of all ages in many different environments and has collaborated with corporate clients on their staff training programmes to deliver enriching motivational events based on singing together - often with surprising results.

Singers of all abilities are welcome and there is no need to be able to read music.

Cheques should be made out to 'PCC St Mary's Marlborough'
